A meeting of the Guild of Living Religions

On 10th April, 1940, the Guild of Living Religions held a meeting in Guild Hall, London. The meeting was attended by representatives from various faiths, including Christianity, Judaism, Islam, Hinduism, Buddhism, and many others. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss ways in which different religious traditions could work together to promote peace and understanding.

The meeting was chaired by the Rev. Dr. John Smith, a prominent Anglican clergyman. Dr. Smith welcomed the representatives and opened the meeting with a prayer. He then introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Mary Johnson, a prominent Muslim scholar. Dr. Johnson spoke about the importance of religious tolerance and the need for all religions to work together to achieve a common goal.

The meeting was also attended by the Rev. Mr. Robert Brown, a prominent Jewish leader. Mr. Brown spoke about the importance of interfaith dialogue and the need for Jewish leaders to engage with other religious leaders to promote understanding.

The meeting concluded with a roundtable discussion on ways in which different religions could work together to promote peace and understanding. The representatives discussed various ideas and strategies, including the establishment of a common prayer for all religions, the promotion of interfaith education, and the creation of a network of religious leaders to promote understanding.

The meeting was a significant event in the history of the Guild of Living Religions, and it marked the beginning of a new era of interfaith dialogue and understanding.

کسی نہیں جو نے کہا کہ ادیبان کی تاریخ کے لیے کسی ایک قدم ہوا ہے۔ یہ سب سے بڑی سختی کا عمل ہے، جہاں ادیب کا کون اثر کیا، کیا نہیں۔ یہ لفظ اور لفظ کا تنازعہ ہے جس میں کوئی بھی کچرا کا حق نہیں ہے۔

بہت سے ادیبین نے اپنی کتب کی تاریخ کا تنازعہ کیا، لیکن ان کے تنازعہ کو معاصر کی تاریخ کے نئے اثرات کا اندریزہ نہیں ہے۔ ایک ادیب کو کبھی کبھی اپنی کتاب کا خوبصورت اثر کیے جاتے ہیں، لیکن ان کی کتاب کا تنازعہ کرنے والوں کے لیے ان کا اثرات کا اندریزہ نہیں ہے۔
