A lady guest said that she was delighted that Hazrat Khalifatul Masih's address was conciliatory as regards Christianity. She felt there were more commonalities and fewer differences between religions

Another guest said that Hazrat Khalifatul Masih gives the important message that Islam is a religion of peace.

A guest commented that people who had misconceptions about Islam usually did not even know any Muslims.

The Jama'at has now acquired status in Germany by virtue of which it can have its own schools and get some help from the Government. However, Hazrat Khalifatul Masih made it clear that the Jama'at is self-funding, its members most keenly make sacrifices and build mosques and we do not need to ask for any help from the Government.

A Christian professor of English from Macedonia, said that she understood the peaceful teachings of Islam after listening to the address of Hazrat Khalifatul Masih and felt Jalsa had brought a change in her.

A doctor from Macedonia said that he was impressed to note the multi-national yet non-discriminatory atmosphere of Jalsa. He took Bai'at on the last day of Jalsa. He said that knowing that Jama'at has a Khalifa, made him accept Ahmadiyyat as the right way.

A friend from Belgium said that he was moved by the mutual unity and brotherhood of Jama'at and their service to mankind.

A Christian friend said that he was delighted to hear the address of Hazrat Khalifatul Masih because he briefly and most clearly explained the teaching of Islam.

A friend from Niger said that prior to Jalsa he had not even thought of Bai'at but when he saw the love Ahmadis had for their Khalifatul Masih he decided to take Bai'at.

Prayers

A German language teacher from Lithuania had the opportunity to personally ask Hazrat Khalifatul Masih why slogans were raised at the Jalsa instead of clapping.

He said he was given a most elegant answer that while clapping certainly was an expression of joy, but slogans combine this element joy with the praise of God.

A Christian priest who teaches philosophy at the University of Malta and has read a few books of the Promised Messiah (on whom be peace) said he had very positive impressions of the Jalsa. He said he believed that Ahmadiyya was a peaceful Jama'at.

He purchased a ring with 'Alaissallah' inscription and asked what it meant. When it was explained to him, he said such a phrase should always be held close to one.

Prayers

Hazrat Khalifatul Masih said prayers should be made for the Ahmadis of Kyrgyzstan. They are facing huge difficulties. May God either give sense to the so-called Mullahs, or bring about their chastisement!

Pray for the success of Jalsa Salana of Canada, Belgium and Ireland that are starting today.

May God enable them to participate with the true spirit of Jalsa and may these Jalsas conclude safely.

Today the UK Khuddam Ijtimā starts. May God enable the youngsters to fulfil the objective of Ijtimā in the real sense.

Every Khadim and very member of the Jama'at should remember that the objective of Ijtimā and Jalsa is to attain the pleasure of God and to improve one's spiritual and moral condition.

Special attention should be given to this matter.
