Love for All Hatred for None
Islam, the Holy Prophet—and the Holy Qur’an.

Islam which makes Peace and surrender to the will of Allah is the fastest growing religion in the world. It was founded by the Prophet Muhammad(r) nearly 1400 years ago in Arabia. Muhammad(r) received a revelation from Allah in which he was told that Islam is the final and complete religion for mankind. Allah told him that all those who have been called before him were wasted worship and nothing else was equal to Him. Muhammad(r) helped the poor, reduced dough and established equal rights for women. He told his followers to be patient during hardship and to pray to Allah. His mission was to establish the rule of Allah in the world, to destroy polytheism, injustice and war. He shaped a just and peaceful society.

The Holy Qur’an is the holy book of Islam. It is the word of Allah and was revealed to Prophet Muhammad(r) over a period of 23 years. It spread over 30 parts and has 114 chapters. It contains a vast array of teachings and is a comprehensive code of conduct for mankind. It also contains numerous prophecies many of which have been fulfilled and many that remain to be fulfilled.

Islam believes in all the prophets and religious teachers appointed by God, including Muhammad(r), Jesus(r), Moses(r), Isaiah(r), Confucius(r) and Zarathushtra(r) (peace be upon them all). It regards all as equal teachers sent by God to establish humanity and to establish its commission with God—therefore they are not equal. There is no peace between all religions by testifying to the truth of the original teachings of various faiths.

Islam also emphasises that men and women are equal before Allah and should enjoy equal rights and duties.

Islam re-enshrines the concept of humanity and respect for individual liberty. It also reminds man of his fundamental human right of being free to choose respect for individual liberty. It also reminds man of a myriad of the earth who await the Promised One in the Latter Days, as it is predicted in their scriptures. It is the Promised One who will establish peace and tranquillity of the heart which is the fruit of submitting to the Will of God.

Islam...... it means ‘PEACE’

We live in a world today that is very much influenced by media coverage. Images, text, headlines and news can just as easily present a false notion as they can present facts. Although misreporting and misinformation is not always confined to religion, an inaccurate account of any true religious beliefs creates mass prejudice and injustice. Unclear and biased ‘Islamic’ reporting has been prevalent for many years, especially with regards to terrorism and war. The clear and true understanding of Islam can only be found in its core teachings and such a study will reveal a religion that not only abhors violence but actually promotes peace at all levels – even during a war conflict.

Islam is a comprehensive religion. It realises that with human weakness, ambition and dynamism, there will be occasions when dispute, conflict and even wars will be inevitable. Although Islam forbids initiation of war or aggression, when it becomes inevitable for Muslims to fight a defensive war, the teachings of Islam lay down strict guidelines. For instance, the freedom and rights of non-combatants must be respected. The old and infirm, women and children must be protected from any harm. Residential properties must be left intact and crops and plantation must not be damaged; and the list goes on.
